Tickets for 'Lum's' Talk Still on Sale

Tickets are still on sale this week for the Canyon Chamber of Commerce's annual banquet at the West Texas State College cafeteria, which this year features Chester H. Lauck, executive assistant with Continental Oil Company.

Lauck perhaps is better known as "Lum" of the popular radio and movie team of "Lum and Abner," who made the Jot 'Em Down Store the best-known general store in the nation.

Roland Black, executive secretary of the C of C, said tickets for the banquet, which is scheduled January 29 at 7:30 p. m., are on sale at the chamber's office at 1509 Fourth Avenue and from any member of the chamber's board of directors.

Tickets Cost $2.50

Special Hours Told For Poll Tax Sales

The tax collector-assessor's office will open Saturday in an attempt to boost the sale of poll taxes, which are lagging in Randall County.

Bill Money, tax assessor-collector, said his office will remain open until noon this Saturday and until 5:30 p. m. on Saturday, January 30, for persons who wish to pay their poll taxes.

Money has predicted a total of 12,500 voters in the county, and is trying to encourage potential voters to avoid the last minute rush for the voting necessities.

Seniors to Stage Play for Benefit

The senior class of Canyon High School will restage their play, "The Night of January 16," Friday as a benefit for the March of Dimes drive in Canyon and Randall County. It was announced this week by Duane Howard, drive chairman.

The play was postponed once because of heavy snow, but Howard said Tuesday that the play will be held Friday "come rain, shine, or snow."

Curtain time for the courtroom drama is 8 p. m. in the play's natural setting. "The Night of January 16" will be staged in the county courtroom of the Randall County courthouse.

Mrs. Foster Directing
Mrs. Lee Foster again is directing the drama for the seniors.

Mrs. Cecil Simms and Ed Dwyer are in charge of ticket sales, and tickets may be purchased at Canyon Drug and The Pharmacy. Cost of the tickets is $1 for adults and 50 cents for students.

The cast includes only one person who is not a member of the CHS senior class, Johnny Raymond, a student teacher at the school from West Texas State College, will play the role of the defense attorney in the play which depicts a murder trial.

Senior Cast Members
Senior members of the cast are Lewis Camp, Ronnie Hughes, Bill Cornette, Mary Bess Brillhart, Linda Green, Carol Jones, Mike Poole, Marla Free, Neil Lemmons, Gary Foster, Helen Guthrie, Judy Parsons, and J. G. Wells.

Also Barbara Whitely, Billy Miller, Don Guill, Ted Abbott, Stephanie Conboye, and Chuck Nester. Jury for the night, which will decide the fate of the accused, is composed of Roy Cheatham, Jack Jennings, Dr. Leta Boswell, Mrs. R. A. Neblett, Hosea Foster, Bob Bellah, Mrs. K. E. Frieze, Mrs. Tom Knighton, T. V. Crounse, Dr. Lloyd Farr, Dale Harter, and Duane Howard.

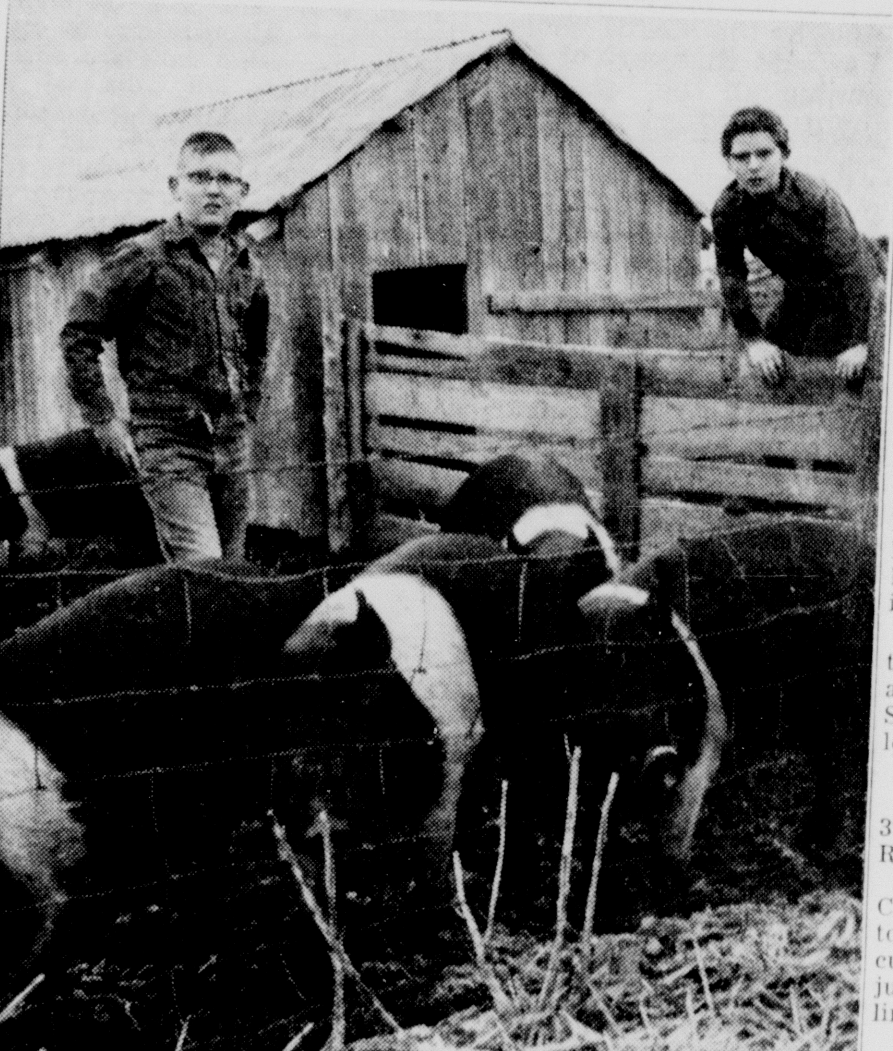

Howard has stressed that all proceeds from the play will go toward the March of Dimes and urged everyone to see the play.

Crucial Little League Meet Set by Jarrett for Feb. 4

A meeting of all persons interested in continuing the Little League baseball program in Canyon next summer has been called for February 4 by Dr. R. P. Jarrett, president of the Little League here.

The meeting begins at 7:30 p. m. in the commissioners courtroom of the Randall County courthouse. If enough interest is not shown, Canyon will not have a league program next summer, Dr. Jarrett said.

Five Members of Canyon Family Killed in Collision of Car, Train

Bob and Cindy Gruner, children of Mr. and Mrs. Forrest Gruner, pose with the swine they will show Saturday at the annual Junior Livestock Show at the city barn. Bob and Cindy plan to show four of the more than 100 head of hogs expected for the show. In all, more than 150 animals are expected to be entered in the annual affair, including 20 horses belonging to 4-H Club members and Future Farmers of America.

Big Livestock Show On Tap for Saturday

The largest Randall County Junior Livestock Show and Sale in the 13-year history of the event is expected this weekend when 4-H Club members and Future Farmers of America exhibit their animals.

A new attraction for this year's show is a division for horses, and more than 20 animals are expected in this category.

Although the lamb and steer shows are expected to draw about the same number of entrants, a record-breaking number of swine are expected.

Over 100 Hogs Expected
Indications point to more than 100 head of hogs to be shown by the youths of Randall County.

In all, more than 150 animals—all raised by 4-H and FFA members—are expected to be exhibited at the show.

The show is being held in the city barn at Third Avenue and 16th Street. Judging will begin at 8:30 a. m. Saturday, with the sale for steers, lambs, and hogs set for Saturday afternoon after all judging is completed. Horses will not be sold.

Myers Is Superintendent
E. M. "Mutt" Myers of Canyon is serving as general superintendent of the show. He is being assisted by more than 40 committee members.

Officers of the Randall County Junior Livestock Association, which annually sponsors the show, are Duane Howard, president, R. B. Gist, Jr., vice president, and Bruce Winn, secretary.

Judging the lambs, steers, and hogs this year is Larry Tackitt, manager of Taylor-Evans Farm Store of Happy. The judge for the horse show had not been announced late Tuesday.

Black, Parker Are Chairmen
T. A. Black heads the committee of seven members to arrange for attendance at the sale, while J. O. Parker heads the 14-member membership sales committee.

Forrest Gruner is in charge of the committee arranging the pens and grounds. Gruner and his committee will begin work Thursday in preparation for the show.

Joe Gibson has a three-man sales clerk committee to do the paper work at the sale, and Richmond Hales will handle the auctioneering committee.

Show Department Heads
Department heads this year are Albert Craig, beef cattle; Vincent Friemel, swine; Ed Wieck, sheep, and Jim Fletcher, horses.

Daughter Dies After Surgery

The death of 11-year-old Sharon Brown at 12:40 a. m. Wednesday brought the death toll to five in a tragic train-car collision south of Amarillo Tuesday night. All were residents of Canyon.

Killed when the northbound Santa Fe Chief smashed their car at 6:24 p. m. were Dr. Robert Lee Brown and his two sons, Dr. Brown's wife and daughter died later at Northwest Texas Hospital in Amarillo.

Mrs. Dorothy Brown, 34, wife of the Canyon veterinarian, died at approximately 7:30 p. m., while Sharon died early Wednesday following brain surgery.

Killed Instantly
Killed instantly were Dr. Brown, 37, and his two sons, David, 6, and Robert, Jr., 9.

The family was traveling from Canyon to Amarillo on Washington Street when the accident occurred at the railroad crossing, just south of the Amarillo city limits.

W. W. Wheeler of Amarillo, engineer on the Santa Fe Chief No. 2, told Highway Patrolman Fred Lenz that he saw the Brown automobile pull to a stop at the S curve, then pull into the path of the overdue train.

Car Thrown 171 Feet
The car was thrown 171 feet by the impact.

The train was traveling at 79 miles per hour when it hit the car, Wheeler told Lenz. The Chief was due in Amarillo at 6 p. m.

Dr. Brown had been associated with Dr. J. L. Markham at Markham Veterinary Clinic on the Hereford Highway here for a little over four months, Dr. Markham said.

On Way to Meeting
Dr. Brown said Dr. Brown probably was on his way to a meeting of veterinarians in an Amarillo hotel. Both Dr. and Mrs. Brown had relatives in Amarillo.

Sharon and Mrs. Brown were rushed to Northwest Texas Hospital by Amarillo Ambulance Service, W. A. "Bill" Wilson, Randall County justice of the peace, acted as coroner at the scene of the accident.

Two of the Brown children were attending Canyon schools, while six-year-old David attended Mrs. Veltan Sogree's kindergarten. Sharon was a sixth-grader and Robert, Jr., was in the third grade.

Center Part Flattened
The Brown's automobile was completely demolished by the smash. The center portion of the left side of the auto was flattened. Funeral arrangements for the family were pending Wednesday at an Amarillo funeral home.

LaGrone Buys Funeral Chapel

Jerry LaGrone, a partner in Warren-LaGrone Funeral Chapel for the past four years, has purchased Bernard Warren's share of the chapel, it was announced this week.

New name of the firm is LaGrone Funeral Chapel.

Warren will devote full time to the family dry goods store and other interests, he said.

The insurance company owned by the partners was not included in the transaction, and there will be no change in the company, LaGrone said. The two men own Warren-LaGrone Insurance Company.

The office of the Dreamland Cemetery Association will continue to be maintained in the funeral home, and LaGrone will continue to serve as manager of Dreamland Cemetery, LaGrone said.

"We plan no changes in any of the services we have offered people of this area in the past. We will strive to offer the finest service available in the Panhandle," LaGrone said.

LaGrone has added a new member to his staff at the chapel. Roy Hancock, who worked at a McLean Funeral home for two years, has moved to Canyon and began work at the chapel. Hancock also will attend West Texas State College.

Other members of the chapel staff will continue in their present capacities, LaGrone said. These include Mrs. R. R. Rigby, receptionist for the past seven years; Mrs. George Ritter, secretary for the past two years, and John Carile, who has been with the funeral home for three and one-half years.

"I feel that the funeral home will be operated in the future as it was in the past," Warren said. "If I hadn't thought this I would never have considered a change. I think LaGrone Funeral Chapel will continue to offer the finest service available in the Panhandle."

New Directors Named by Club

Three new directors of Canyon City Club were elected Tuesday night at the annual stockholders meeting in the American Legion Hall.

Voted into directorships were John Williams, James Cole, and Dr. W. J. Wooten. The trio joined James M. White, Dallas Smith, and Rex Reeves on the board of directors.

New secretary of the club is Duane Howard, who succeeds E. M. "Mutt" Myers.

A planning committee also was appointed Tuesday to draw plans for dressing rooms at the club swimming pool. Chaired by Carroll Vaughan, the committee is composed of Alvin McDonald, Bill Sternberg, and Bruce Winn.

The group is to submit the dressing room plans at a later date.

Although work on the new Canyon High School, classroom building is temporarily halted due to lack of materials, workmen are concentrating their efforts elsewhere. This photo of the north hallway will give some idea of the depth of the building, which is to be ready for classes by September 1. Floyd Richards Construction Company of Amarillo has the contract for the construction.

Canyon residents got another break from the weather last weekend as winds failed to accompany the five-inch snow which whitewashed this area. Here the snow is shown as it piled up atop a fence post at a house in Canyon.

The New Insurance Plan

Senator Grady Hazlewood's assault on the Texas Safe Driving Insurance Plan apparently will have little effect on the three-week-old plan in 1960.

A two-day hearing on the subject was concluded Friday, and it depends on which news report you read, listen to, or watch as to the results of the hearing. There appears to be about as many different meanings to the hearing as there were news reporters covering the event.

Under the Texas Safe Driving Insurance Plan, drivers' insurance rates are based on the number of accidents and moving traffic violations recorded during a 39-month period.

The State Insurance Board estimates 57 percent of Texas autos and 70 percent of its motorists will have their rates reduced 20 percent, another group will pay the same rates as in 1959, and the remainder will pay increases of up to 100 percent.

Most of the state legislators opposing the plan at the hearing threw support to Senator Hazlewood and denounced that part of the plan which would penalize drivers for receiving tickets for moving traffic violations.

Another feature of the plan hit hard was that which uses the past 39 months of driving as the basis for the merit plan. The state Insurance Board has stood steadfast in its refusal to even consider removing the moving violations from the plan, saying that experience has shown them that the more tickets a motorist gets the more accident-prone he is.

Some opponents of the plan have disputed this assertion by the board. Senator Hazlewood has said this part of the plan is like "sending all the people in here to the penitentiary to get one guilty person."

We fail to see the logic in either argument. But why should the insurance companies in Texas be allowed to penalize Texas motorists for violating the traffic laws in this state?

If the state wishes to abdicate its power to fine for violation of the statutes, then there might be some reasoning behind the state allowing the insurance companies to penalize motorists.

Or an alternate plan would be for the insurance companies to pay their clients' fines for violating the traffic laws. In this way the insurance companies would have a legitimate reason for wanting the rates to increase with every violation.

However, since the State Insurance Board says it can prove that the more accident-prone in the state receive the most traffic tickets, why not wait until these accident-prone people have that accident before sticking them with an even higher insurance rate than Texans are now paying? (OG)

Age of the Shoddy

"This was the era, domestically, when everything was half done; the era, in foreign affairs, when nothing was done right because nobody seemed to care enough to exercise the foresight and take the pains to see that it was done right. This was the time when the job on the car was always half finished, the suit came back from the cleaners half dirty, the yardwork was overpriced and underdone, the bright new gadget broke down a week after you got it home, the prices climbed higher and higher as the quality got less and less, and the old-fashioned rule of a fair bargain for a fair price was indeed old-fashioned, for it never applied to anything. The great Age of the Shoddy came upon America after the war, and Everybody Wants His became the guiding principle for far too many.

Thus Allen Drury describes the post-war era, in his remarkable novel "Advise and Consent"—a work in which he uses the vehicle of fiction to present an extraordinarily revealing picture of Washington's political, diplomatic and social worlds.

The accuracy of his indictment is undeniable. Yet, in the immediate postwar years, it was possible to find seemingly valid excuses. The relaxation of war tensions resulted, naturally enough, in emotional and financial excesses. An attitude of "live for today and never mind tomorrow" became general. On the purely material side, the lifting of wartime restrictions on industrial production created an eager and apparently insatiable market for almost anything, no matter how poor the quality or exorbitant the price.

Had this sorry situation spent itself in a reasonable time there would have been small cause for worry. But who can honestly deny that the dark picture Mr. Drury paints is still—in the fundamentals, if not all the details—the picture that obtains in this country?

The problem, of course, is a moral problem. The Protestant Episcopal Bishop of Michigan, the Rt. Reverend Richard Emrich, speaks for churchmen of all denominations when he says: "Everywhere I travel I hear arguments, but I never hear a moral argument, with someone saying, 'this is wrong, or unjust, or dishonest, and I will have nothing to do with it.' I think we are floundering as a people."

And there lies the tragedy. For the basic strength of any nation is its moral strength. All the weapons, all the productive capacity, all the money on earth, cannot save a people from ultimate destruction if their moral fiber decays, their national character rots, and they sink into an abyss of material cynicism, indifference, selfishness, avarice, greed.

A short time ago the television scandals, centering around rigged quiz shows, captured the national headlines and were publicized the world around. The Saturday Evening Post has devoted a full-page editorial to the matter in which it makes a big and often overlooked point. It offers no excuses for the deceit—"those who have been damned by revelations deserved to be damned." But, the Post also says "... we believe that the importance of their guilt has been wildly exaggerated, the significance of their guilt almost wholly overlooked. ... What is important is that we recognize the television scandals for what they are—a symptom of the declining standards of moral behavior in the United States, that twinge in the national belly that warns of deep-seated malignancy in the body politic." And those declining standards, it goes on, can be found in some form and in some degree virtually everywhere—in schools, professions, the labor unions, business and the government.

So much for the indictments. There is a bright side. It is found in the fact that more and more people, in public and private discussion, are talking about the problem, thinking about it, worrying about it. An astute English observer of the American scene observed that the television mess may prove to be of enormous benefit—by awakening the American people to the extent and character of moral decay and removing the blinders from their eyes. The American people have been awakened to many kinds of dangers in the past, and have met them with wrath, with courage and with understanding.

And that is the hope—that there will be a moral revival in this country, a cleaning of dirty houses. Failing that, everything else is doomed to fail.

(Ochiltree County Herald)

What Our Neighbors Say . . .

Scissor Snippings

Harold Hudson in The Ochiltree County Herald: We have noticed on the part of national magazines and some experts to keep referring to the farm problem as "the farm scandal." In fact, Time and Life magazines refer to the farm problem in no other terms than "the farm scandal." The farmer is pictured as a rube with his hand out, unwilling to work for his living like the city folks. This is an unfair picture, and certainly not true. It has been our observation that those with a solution to the farm problem are usually people who do not farm for a living or those who farm but depend upon outside income. The farmer, with few exceptions, is willing to take his chances on the open market of supply and demand if everybody else will do likewise, including labor unions (minimum wages and hours by law), airlines (subsidy), the shipping industry, manufacturing in many fields. Until everybody else is willing to take the same step, the average farmer is unwilling to be thrown out into the cold winter wind without his overcoat. And we don't blame him.

We do think that 25 years of the government farm program has destroyed the independence of farmers—made far too many get into the habit of turning to Uncle Sam for aid in every emergency.

But who knows an answer to the farm problem? Nobody we have heard about thus far has come forth with the answer.

I GIVE YOU TEXAS

Faithful Painting of Tennessee Would Be Called 'Exaggerated'

Knoxville is of course the location of the University of Tennessee and it has many beautiful homes, with spacious grounds and stately trees. This testimony is placed in the record last week's description of the picturesquely down-at-the-heels public market might give a disproportionate idea of Knoxville to the reader. After all, I might have occasion to re-visit the city.

Knoxville is also the home of the 12-cent hamburger. Furthermore, it is made entirely of beef—something that can not be said, truthfully, of all the hamburgers served in Texas, the home of the steer, where the meat is often mixed with stale bread crumbs, soy beans, cotton-seed hulls and similar ingredients. But I digress.

In a Knoxville hamburger emporium, the cashier/waitress-chef has time to keep up a running-fire of comment. The "regulars" she greets with, "Good morning, cousin" and knows what each one wants without being told. A customer who said he wanted a glass of orange juice was asked, "Do you want the big or large?" When another customer exclaimed, "You women!" she replied, "Yes—but you like us, don't you?"

From the highway as one leaves Knoxville westward bound, almost everywhere one looks would be a picture for an artist: country estates with grounds, acres in extent, of well-mowed grass; then, for contrast, a tract covered with a tangle of native growth; a small house with a large tree forming a complete background; a mansion with Shetlands in a pasture, edged by a brook which is arched by trees; a hillside of stubble with six white turkeys in a group; a ridge, tree-lined, with a little notch in which a wisp of vapor rests, like a fluff of cotton stuffed into place; a view of a valley half veiled in mist for it is a dark day and we are—like the armies at Lookout Mountain—above the clouds. Even old sheds and barns and neglected cabins have pictorial qualities.

If an artist painted these scenes faithfully, critics would say he had exaggerated and overcolored.

Seventh Graders Tee Off On Weatherman in Poetry

While the snow was on the ground two weeks ago, Mrs. Ed Weeks let her seventh graders at Canyon Junior High School spend one period putting their thoughts on snow in poetry.

Here are some of those poems, selected for publication by those same seventh graders.

Snow

At night after it snows,
Away we go,
Up to the shed
To put up the sled,
Then go off to bed

The snow is still falling,
And daddy is calling
As up he goes

In the drifted snow,
We can still here him calling,
Larry Wesley

Snow is a Wonderful Sight to See
Snow is a wonderful sight to see,
On the hilltop riding down
Is a good place to be.
The way snow does fall,
"Let's go skiing,"
Everyone would call.

Snow is a wonderful sight to see,
Out you go to knock the gate free.
Build a snowman to see,
The sun comes out, where can he be?

Snow is a wonderful sight to see,

Out on the snow we be.
Out we go to ski and ski,
Snow is a wonderful sight to see.
Jerry Ferguson

A Weatherman's Flurry
Yesterday the weatherman did say
That snow we would have before today.
But as you have gained,
Instead it rained,
Which all but made a gay day.

The weatherman was frustrated.
But he finally contemplated,
Cats and dogs today would snow.
And it did. What do you know?
Rose Ellen Parker

The Snowiest Christmas Day
The snowflakes on the window,
The heat inside the room,
The kinfolks gathered together
And not one of them in gloom.

On Christmas Day in December,
The snow at noon was still falling
The children were all calling,
This is the biggest snow I can remember.

Beth Jarrett

The Wonderful World of Snow
Everytime the snow comes falling down
Like little blizzards of thistle-down
It always makes me want to go
Out to play in the wonderful
snow.

But don't go out with haste
and speed
For you had best take care
and heed;
You might think you're mighty
bold,
But really you're just freezin'
cold.

Then we'll build a snowman high
Up in the air, the wonderful sky.
When the wind comes blowing out
Our snowman will come tumbling about.

Snow in the Sky
Snow, snow in the sky,
You look so beautiful as I go
by.

Falling in December,
Making me remember Christmas
Day in December.

Snow is falling,
Children are calling,
Come to the shed,
Get the sled,

Watching a baby grow into a person is one of the delights of nature. Yet, by a strange irony, young parents rarely get to enjoy this miracle.

Living as they do - so engulged in the duties of tending and feeding, no-no-ing and washing-up-after - they're usually too exhausted to do anything but fall in a heap once the children are tucked in their beds. We won't say safely, because there's no such thing as tucked safely in with a little one. Bad dreams, bad colds, bad tummies - so many things can sound a signal that sends parents stumbling through the darkness to rescue one yawning infant before he wakes the others.

Not only do they live in this atmosphere of broken sleep and patience-testing. Their social contacts outside the home are with other young couples whose lives are like theirs. A young mother particularly lives in a world withdrawn from normal adult activities. It's little wonder she must remind herself from time to time that the three-year-old is a young human being struggling toward human understanding, not a cunning little monster plotting to overthrow her sanity.

Grandparents, on the other hand, can relax and enjoy the small dynamo who finds adventure in each experience and every room of the house, even though it's sometimes disastrous. The adult world of grandparents has forgotten baby ways until their own little loved ones recall them. Young mothers and fathers live them, talk them, sleep them, day after day.

We'd like to help these harried young parents enjoy their good fortune. But about all we can say is, "Patience, dears; you'll be grandparents by and by!"

Come see the snow in the sky.
Jean Robinson

Snow Is a Beautiful Sight
Snow is such a beautiful sight
And it is more beautiful during the night.

And when I went out last night
I saw the snow and what a sight.

The weatherman saw it and what a fright,
He had given the wrong report
last night.

Farm Loan Group File Form Early Gets Title Change For Fast Return

The National Farm Loan Association of Amarillo, which has made and serviced Federal Land Bank loans in this area for more than 40 years, has a new name.

According to Fred Cotton, secretary-treasurer, the association was renamed the Federal Land Bank Association of Amarillo beginning December 31, as a result of the Farm Credit Act of 1959, and he is "manager" instead of secretary-treasurer.

Another change permitted by the new law, which is of interest to farmers and ranchers, is the removal of the $200,000 loan limit. Also, the new law provides that sums loaned to purchase capital stock in the Federal Land Bank Association can be over and above the present loan limit of 65 percent of the normal agricultural value of the farm or ranch mortgaged.

Cotton stated that the association is now servicing 379 Federal Land Bank loans for about $3,250,000 for land owners in the four county area served by the association.

In addition to Cotton, officers and directors of the association are Robert W. Foster, president, Happy W. J. Hill, vice president, Bushland; Albert Byars, director, Canyon; A. E. Roark, director, Vega; and W. T. Oliver, director, Amarillo.

Reeves to Attend Tech Science Meet

Eddie R. Reeves of Canyon, a student at West Texas State College, will participate in a Collegiate Science Research Conference at Texas Tech in Lubbock early in February it was announced this week.

Sponsored by the Texas Academy of Science, 80 undergraduate students from 16 colleges and universities will attend the conference at Tech.

"Purpose of the conference is to encourage outstanding undergraduate science students to consider advanced study and to give them an idea of the nature of graduate study in the science," Dr. Joe Adamcik, chairman of the conference said.

Students will visit laboratories related to their major science interest, review research projects underway at Tech, and discuss various aspects of current research in major natural science fields, Adamcik said.

The other tip, Hamill said, is not to write for a few weeks asking where your refund is.

"If we have to stop to answer such letters," Hamill said, "it will slow down the refunding process and delay your check that much longer."

That is the advice of H. B. Hamill, administrative officer of the Amarillo office. He added:

"If we have to give your return a pre-refund audit and thus delay your refund check, we will inform you of that fact by letter. But even in such cases, the earlier you file, the earlier we can get at your pre-refund audit."

Hamill also has a couple of tips for early filers who want to receive their refunds as quickly as possible.

Joe Kerbel's Force of Aides For Buffs Now Totals Three

Joe Moss, one of Maryland's all-time great tackles, has been named new assistant football coach at West Texas State, bringing the list of new aides to head man Joe Kerbel to three.

Earlier, Jack Harris of Pharr-San Juan-Alamo High School and Billy Willingham, former assistant at Sweetwater High School, were appointed by Coach Kerbel. The 29-year-old Moss comes to West Texas from the campus of Texas Tech, where he was a former assistant coach along with Kerbel. Moss was there three years and worked with the line.

Lettered Three Years A graduate of Ridgeley, W. Va., High School, Moss lettered three years at Maryland, graduating in 1951. He helped the Terrapins defeat Missouri in the 1950 Gator Bowl and Tennessee in the 1952 Sugar Bowl.

For his outstanding college play, Moss was rewarded by being named to play in the Chicago Tribune All-Star game the following fall.

He performed one year with the Washington Redskins and then was player-coach with Bowling AFB in 1953 and '54. After the service, he played one year with Ottawa in the Canadian League and then moved to Maryland as line coach in 1956. He went to Tech the following season.

An All-State End Harris, 37, served as assistant coach to Kerbel for two years at Breckenridge, where during his playing days he was an all-state end. He played at Texas and finished his career at Hardin-Simmons after World War II.

Harris was head coach at Itasca in 1947 and an assistant at Southwestern College in 48. He was head coach at Ozona the following two years before being recalled by the Marine Corps.

After his two campaigns at Breckenridge, Harris went to Nocona as head man in 1954, moved to Hereford in 1957 and went to Pharr-San Juan-Alamo in the Rio Grande Valley in '58. Willingham, who coached the North line in the annual Texas Coaching School All-Star game last fall, lettered three years at guard at TCU. He was graduated in 1951.

He launched his coaching career at Albany, handling the line in 1951, 1952, and '53. He moved to Nocona as an assistant before going to Sweetwater in 1955. His high school ball was played at Stephenville. He is a veteran of the Air Force.

All three new assistants are married. The Moss family has two children, the Harris family one, and the Willinghams have no children.

Washington Report

State of the Union Message

By Representative Walter Rogers
18th Congressional District

On January 7, 1960, President Eisenhower, appearing in excellent health and good spirits, delivered to congress his state of the union message for the second session of the 86th Congress.

It was not unlike most all of the other state of the union messages heretofore delivered by President Eisenhower and his predecessors in office, of both parties. The chief executive did not hesitate to take credit on behalf of the executive branch of the government for all of the good things that have happened, and to blame Congress for all of the bad things that happened.

Although such conclusions were not factually correct, there was a minimum of concern over this approach, because previous performances caused the members to anticipate what was to come. The big problem this year, as in other years, is not who did what or who is to receive credit. The big problem is how to correct those ills and difficulties which continually beset a nation.

Encouraging Remarks

I was greatly encouraged by some of the early remarks in the President's message, which I quote: "Our surplus from foreign business transactions has in recent years fallen substantially short of the expenditures we make abroad to maintain our military establishments overseas, to finance private investment, and to provide assistance to the less developed nations. In 1959 our deficit in balance of payments approached $4 billion."

"Continuing deficits of anything like this magnitude would, over time, impair our own economic growth and check the forward progress of the free world."

These remarks indicate that the Executive department is well aware of one of the most dangerous problems which we will face in the next decade.

The President had said earlier in his speech: "... we note that recent Soviet deportment and pronouncements suggest the possible opening of a somewhat less strained period in the relationships between the Soviet Union and the rest of the world."

This reference was undoubtedly to the possibility of relaxation in the arms race. We all hope there will be less strained relationships in his particular. However, we should not permit such possibility to lull us into a false sense of security. The probability of Soviet relaxing the tensions in the arms race does not mean the Soviet does not intend to push forward on the economic front. When this is done, and we can expect it in the very near future, it will be an impact added to the impact to which we are already sensitive and which was pointed up in the president's reference to the $4 billion deficit in our international balance of payments.

I am indeed happy that the president is alarmed about the situation and I sincerely hope that he will cooperate with Congress to correct it.

Sound Fiscal Policies

It would be impossible in the space provided in this newsletter to touch on all the other items, but I did want to call attention to the reference of the president to sound fiscal policies.

I heartily agree with his conclusion that the government can counter inflation by reducing expenditures below its revenues. I am glad he intends to do that this year. I thought he intended to do it several years ago, but discovered to my dismay that such was not the case.

The result was that attempts were made to raise revenue by raising taxes. To this I was opposed and am still opposed.

A Balanced Budget

The president predicted a balanced budget for this year. I sincerely hope that his figures are more correct this year than they have been in some previous years. For instance, it was estimated by the president for the 1958 fiscal year that receipts would amount to $72.4 billion and that expenditures would amount to $72.8 billion, leaving a deficit of $400 million.

However, the actual figures subsequently proved that the receipts amounted to only $67.1 billion and the expenditures amounted to $71.9 billion, leaving a deficit of $2,800 million or seven times greater than had been estimated.

Another case at hand is that on January 13, 1958, the president estimated that the receipts for 1959 fiscal year would be $74.4 billion and that the expenditures would be $73.9 billion, leaving a surplus of $500 million. However, on January 1, 1959, this estimate had undergone some changes.

13 Billion Deficit

At that time the president estimated that the receipts for fiscal 1959 would be only $68 billion and that the expenditures would be $80.9 billion, leaving a deficit of $12.9 billion. This is just to show you that high sounding, honeyed words about government financing do not prevent an estimated surplus from changing into a staggering deficit.

And words alone are not going to balance the budget. The fact is that the national debt has been increased in the past several years by almost $20 billion. This increase has been due to the actions of the same people who claimed to be advocating reductions in expenditures and balanced budgets. Let us all hope that we can get the actions and the words coordinated this time and set the record straight.

Mrs. Stokes Hosts Pleasantview Club

Mrs. H. M. Stokes was hostess to the Pleasantview Home Demonstration Club when it met for the first meeting of the year. Mrs. John Jennings presided at the business session. Roll call for the 11 members present was answered by telling whether or not the member had paid her poll tax.

Mrs. Mona Hildreth demonstrated ideas on fashions and fabrics for spring.

World Friendship Keys Discussed

"Keys to World Friendship" was the theme of the Sue Hite Club meeting Monday at the museum club room. Mrs. A. K. Goodman gave the invocation, after which Mrs. Crews Henry read the club constitution.

A forum on international relations discussed the theme. Mrs. David Hanig spoke on the hot spots of the world. Mrs. Clay Cooper gave a discussion on Fidel Castro, and Mrs. H. Doyle Ragle described the United Nations and its work.

Article by Bob Griffith In Educational Magazine

An article by Bob Griffith, assistant professor of business, appeared in the December issue of the Journal of Business Education. Titled "Evaluation of Student Teachers," the article describes procedures used at West Texas State College in the training of business education student teachers. A picture accompanying the article is of Mrs. Janie Sudderth of Bovina practicing as a student teacher in business at Canyon High School.

Chevy's new torsion springs and Sturdi-Bilt design are changing everybody's ideas about how much work a truck can do. Last year's schedules are out—Chevrolet trucks ride faster over the rough runs to get in more trips a day! Big repair bills are no longer a problem—Chevrolet trucks soak up punishment that means downtime to other makes! And trade-in time's put off for extra thousands of miles—'60 Chevrolet trucks stay new like never before!

New Dollar-Saving Prices

Step-Vans, 4-Wheel Drives, many light-duty models with automatic transmissions—all are lower priced. Prices have also been reduced on all optional V8's.

New Torsion-Spring Suspension

Eliminates I-beam shimmy and wheel fight! With torsion springs up front there's a brand-new, smoother, easier handling feel behind the wheel. New rear suspensions include wide-based coil springs in most light-duty models; tougher variable-rate leaf springs in medium- and heavy-duty models.

Electronically Balanced Wheels

Front wheels and tires are balanced at the factory. Helps make that new ride revolutionary!

New Cabs—Wider, Safer, More Comfortable

Many models are a whole 7 inches lower (without sacrificing road clearance), so it's easier to hop in and out of cabs. Still there's more space inside: more room for hats and hips, more foot room with suspended pedals. Cabs are safer, too; new build makes them 67% more rigid.

Plus Improvements All Through the Line

A new steering linkage system that cuts vibration, means better control. There's new V8 efficiency. Sixes long famous for saving. New key-turn starting. Higher, wider visibility. Talk to your Chevrolet dealer about the world's most advanced trucks.

HOW WE MANAGE THE TELEPHONE BUSINESS

With the beginning of a new year, many folks take stock of their old resolutions and make any changes that are needed.

Here at the telephone company there's one resolution that never changes, no matter how many times we review it. It is to manage the business in the best interest of the public, employees and shareholders.

The telephone company exists for one purpose: to furnish you the best possible telephone service at reasonable cost—a cost consistent with financial safety and fair treatment of employees.

SERVICE HAS BEEN IMPROVED

Good service, of course, is our first objective. But since the only good service is one that continually improves, a planned program of service improvements is called for. One example: We started a program of "air-conditioning" the cables here in Canyon. To "air-condition" a telephone cable we install a compressor-dehydrator unit in the office and seal off all existing leaks in the cables and distribution boxes around town so that we can maintain 7 pounds of air pressure within the cable. When you get a hole in the cable, no matter how small, an alarm comes in to the office, and through test procedures air escaping through the hole prevents any moisture entering the cable. The net result—practically all troubles caused by wet cables, which is one of the primary causes of telephone trouble, will be eliminated. We started the "air-conditioning" of cables in Canyon in 1959 and will complete the job during 1960.

A BIG JOB

Improvement of telephone service is a big job, but probably the biggest of all is expanding the telephone network. Just look at the growth here in Canyon: 2434 phones today, compared with 1408 in 1950, and one out of 5 residential customers has at least one extension phone.

Good service also takes willing owners, folks who've invested savings in the business and depend on management to run it in a sound, profitable manner. If their money can earn a reasonable profit in the telephone business, who can expect them to continue investing it with us?

With good earnings, we can plan ahead with confidence, build for the future, strive always to give you the best telephone service we know how.

Call by number. It's twice as fast.

Wayside News

By INA KENNEDY

Snow again this week is with us. Wayside received about three inches. Most farmers are still welcoming the moisture, and it has been a long time since we have had so much underground seasoning.

Attendance for church Sunday was small because of the weather. Rev. Roland Moore filled the pulpit.

Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Duncan spent Friday in Amarillo shopping.

A 3c and Mrs. Jimmy Adams of Amarillo Air Force Base spent Friday in the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Adams and Leslie.

Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Stockett have returned from a visit with friends in California.

Charles Kennedy and Ira Schrib were called to the grand jury in Claude Monday afternoon.

Wayside Brotherhood met at the church Tuesday night. There were 19 men present. W. R. Moore acted as host. Julius Hansen of Tulsa was the speaker of the evening.

Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Clayton, Sr., and family moved last week west of Happy to the Charles Burks place.

Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Lane went to Fort Worth last week to attend a butane dealers meeting.

Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Franklin visited last weekend in Canyon in the home of their son, Roy Franklin, and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Wetzel and family were Canyon callers Saturday.

The W.S.C.S. met at the Vico Park church Wednesday afternoon. Mrs. R. Darnell was main speaker. She gave an interesting talk on Africa. Those attending from Wayside were Aline Adams, Ella Heisler, Bertha Mahler, Fannie Stevens, Bernice Hamblen, Othella McGehee, Ina McGehee, Thelma Denny, Montene Stevens, Ina Kennedy, and Doreene Modisette.

Jackie Driskell, Jimmy Pearson, and Richard Bowe of Happy, and Robert Kennedy went to Texas Tech Thursday night and were visitors Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. John Barnes and John McGehee visited with Merle Jenkins in the Canyon hospital Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Newsom and Marvin Hall visited relatives in San Angelo last week.

Rev. Dewey Hunt of Canyon was doing electric wiring for Henry Hamblen Friday and Saturday.

Tim Payne of Amarillo visited last week with his grandmother, Mrs. Eddie Mahler, and family.

Captain Bryce Payne and sons, Doug and Donnie, of Abilene visited in the Eddie Mahler home Saturday. Doug and Donnie stayed for a longer visit.

Mrs. A. L. Stevens and Clifford Stevens made a business trip to Claude Wednesday.

TAX FACTS

More Deductions If Your Home Is Income Producer

(This is one of a series of articles on federal income tax filing. These articles are based on information provided by the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants, in cooperation with the Internal Revenue Service.)

If you rent all or part of your home, the income you receive is taxable. However, the government is only interested in taxing the amount you gain over and above your expense for maintaining the lodging.

You can save valuable tax dollars by being aware of the expenses you can deduct from the rent you receive.

Assume that you own an eight room house. Since you only need six rooms, you decide to rent the other two rooms as a furnished apartment.

Two Kinds of Expenses

You will have two kinds of deductible expenses: those expenses that apply to the house as a unit and those expenses that apply particularly to the apartment.

As a home owner, you can deduct any property taxes you may have to pay. You can also deduct the interest on a mortgage. This is true whether you rent part of the house or not, but there are some additional deductions you can take from the rent you receive.

You can deduct such items as insurance, repairs, collection fees, depreciation, and brokerage commissions. But remember, these deductible expenses must apply directly to the two rooms you are renting.

Only Two Rooms Count

In other words, if you make repairs to the whole house you can only deduct from rent income the cost of repairs applicable to the two rooms being rented.

If you supply any utilities such as gas or electricity to your tenant without making a separate charge, you can deduct a portion of the amount you pay for these utilities from the rent you receive.

Income from renting all or a part of your home should be reported in schedule G of Form 1040. However, if you perform any substantial services for your tenant, then the rent becomes business income and should be reported on Schedule C.

In Hotel Business

For example, you may be supplying hotel-type services such as breakfast, laundry, or cleaning. If such is the case, then you are actually receiving payment for the use of both your property and your services.

In effect, you are in the hotel business and must report your income as business income.

Home as Business Office

If you can show that it is necessary for you to work at home as a part of earning your income from a business, profession, or job, you may be able to deduct a portion of your household expenses as business expenses.

It may be that you use a room as an office. You have equipped it with a desk, a couple of chairs or other materials for performing your work. You can deduct a portion of the following expenses as legitimate business expenditures: depreciation of your home, heat, light, insurance, and so on.

You also can deduct any portion of your telephone bill applicable to your business affairs.

Also True of Rent

If you happen to be renting your home from someone else, you cannot deduct an amount for the depreciation of a portion of the house, but you can claim a share of the rent you pay as a deduction.

Some of the expenses for your home office are fully deductible. These expenses that relate exclusively to your business, such as supplies, postage, depreciation of your office furniture, and so on.

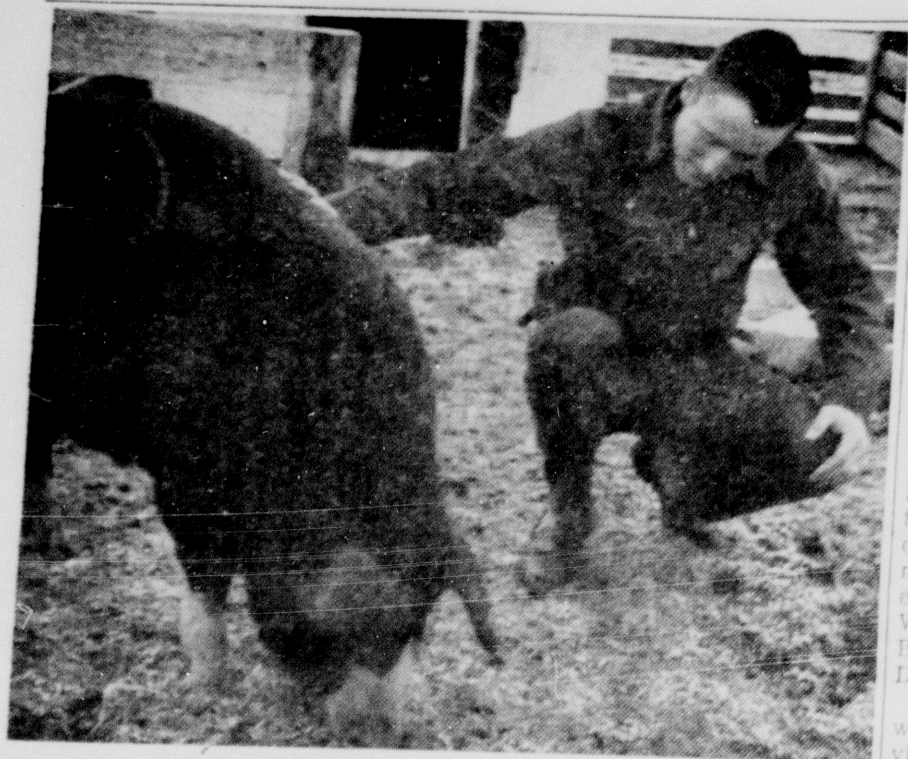

Whether you are renting your home or using part of it as an office, remember to keep records of as many of your expenses as possible.

Although you are entitled to deduct the expenses discussed in this article, the Internal Revenue Service may ask for an explanation of some of items you deduct. It pays to have whatever information you can gather to support the expenses you claim.

FINGER MAN

There is little hope for the fellow who blackens his friends in an attempt to whitewash himself.

Looking over his hog as he prepares it for the Randall County Junior Livestock Show this weekend is Eugene Howard, member of the Canyon High School Future Farmers of America. Eugene and several other FFA members at the school, as well as 4-H Club members from throughout Randall County, are getting their animals ready for the show which will be held Saturday at the city barn. Ed Dwyer, vocational agriculture teacher for the Canyon school, is sponsor of the FFA organization.

Camp Services Held Friday

Funeral services for Mrs. Lillie Mae Camp of Dalhart, mother of W. W. Camp of Canyon, were held at 2:30 p. m. Friday in the First Methodist Church of Friona. Mrs. Camp died as a result of injuries received in a car accident in Amarillo January 11.

Officiating was the Rev. Hugh Blaylock, pastor. Burial was in the Friona Cemetery under the direction of Boxwell Brothers Funeral Home of Amarillo. Pallbearers were L. S. Johnston, Mitchell W. Jones, Edward Hall, Gilbert Boatman, Emmett Day, and Charles Doak.

Mrs. Camp, 74, and her husband were returning to Dalhart after visiting their son here, when their car was struck by a 1950 model sedan in which five other persons were riding. All were injured. Mrs. Camp died in Northwest Texas Hospital shortly after the accident. Mr. Camp, who suffered head injuries, has been released from the hospital and is now staying with his son, W. W. Camp.

Born January 29, 1885, in Wise County, Mrs. Camp was a member of the Methodist Church in Dalhart where she and her husband had lived since 1946. Before they moved to Dalhart, they lived in Friona 20 years and in Knox County 40 years. They were married December 24, 1915.

Mrs. Camp is survived by her husband; two daughters, Mrs. D. E. Mann of Friona and Mrs. Cloyd Stowers of Raton, N. M., one other son, M. T. Camp of Littlefield; and 11 grandchildren.

Preceding her in death was one son and three grandchildren.

Canyon Study Club Selects Officers

Officers were elected by the Canyon Study Club in its January 12 meeting in the Panhandle-Plains Historical Museum.

Mrs. Floyd Langford will head the group in the 1960-61 year. Other officers will be Mrs. Guy Hamblen, vice president; Mrs. Joe White, secretary; Mrs. Dick Dawdy, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Bill Davis, treasurer; Mrs. Gordon Williams, parliamentarian; and Mrs. Bill Cunningham, reporter-historian.

Business presented to the group included the Vogue Sewing Contest and a club project. A game night will be held February 19 as the project. Admission will be 50 cents. The place has not been selected.

For the program, members gave one-minute reports on Hawaii. Mrs. Mary Winters was hostess for the evening.

Departmental reports will be filled out Saturday in the home of Mrs. Dick Dawdy, 2513 Seventh Avenue.

Cofer Rites Held Here on Tuesday

Funeral services were held Tuesday for Roland Roy Cofer, Jr., 41, of 104 W. Tenth Avenue, in La Grone Funeral Chapel with Rev. H. Doyle Ragle, pastor of the First Methodist Church of Canyon, officiating.

Cofer died Saturday night in a Kerrville tourist court. Cause of death was accidental asphyxiation, according to Kerrville police.

Cofer, who had lived most of his life in Canyon, was enroute to Houston and a new job. He was a mechanic in Canyon.

Born in Helper, Utah, Cofer was a member of the Methodist Church and a veteran of World War II.

Burial was in Dreamland Cemetery under the direction of La Grone Funeral Chapel.

Survivors include the mother, Mrs. Roy Cofer of Canyon; one brother, Kenneth Cofer of Pasadena, Texas, and two sisters, Mrs. Ardith Read of Aurora, Colo., and Mrs. Ed Harrison of Cortez, Colo.

Pall bearers were Roland Black, Charles Donnell, D. B. Lowes, Johnnie McBroom, Jack Jennings, and Clay Cooper.

One of the big jobs facing residents of this area after last week's 10-inch snow was getting the sidewalks cleared. Here, two maintenance men at West Texas State College clear the sidewalk in front of the college cafeteria for the expected rush at meal time.

Geringer-Cross Plans Announced

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Geringer of Wheatland, Wyo., are announcing the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Margaret, to Jon Byron Cross, nephew of Miss Ruth Cross of Canyon.

Wedding vows will be exchanged January 29 in the Lutheran Church in Wheatland.

Miss Geringer was graduated last year from the University of Colorado at Boulder, Colo., and Mr. Cross is a senior at the university.

Dowlen to Receive Degree In Law at Texas School

George E. Dowlen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Dowlen of Canyon, is one of 71 University of Texas Law School seniors who are candidates for degrees January 30 at the close of the current semester.

W. Page Keeton, dean of the Law School, announced that Dowlen is a candidate for a Bachelor of Law degree from the state university.

Social Security Will Be Discussed at Meet

The social security representative from Amarillo, Maurine Travis, will speak to the Randall County Home Demonstration Clubs in the Farm Bureau building Friday, January 22, at 2:30 p. m. She will explain the social security laws to the members.

All club members are invited to attend, and any guests of the members will be welcomed.

SOIL CONSERVATION DISTRICT NEWS

Farmers and ranchers who intend to plant grass on their farms this spring should start thinking about the kinds, dates, and amounts of grass to seed.

The supervisors of the Randall-Potter SCD recommend that the grass be planted between January 15 and March 15. With the soil as moist or wet as it is now, the grasses should have a good chance after they are seeded.

The district recommends that a mixture with approximately 80 percent Blue Gramma and 20 percent Buffalo be used. If the farmer or rancher desires other grasses may be planted, but it is felt that the native grasses are better for this area.

The district owns two grass seed drills and these drills may be rented for 50 cents per acre from Ed Dwyer at the Canyon High School.

Under the ACP program a cost-share payment is offered for deferred grazing. If you want to defer some of your rangeland you should contact the local ASC office before February 1.

For further information on grass seeding, deferred grazing, or any other practice you may contact the local SCS technician, ASC, or county agent.

NEW YEAR ALWAYS PRESENTS PROBLEM OF THE CALENDAR

By OSCAR GRIFFIN

The beginning of a new year always presents problems that are extremely difficult to cope with. For instance, I always, but always, have trouble finding a calendar that I can keep around the desk somewhere and scribble my meager notes on for meetings, etc.

It seems that calendars that come through the mail or are handed out are either too large, too small, won't stand up, or something. And the trouble with a desk calendar is that it costs money.

I finally got this problem solved for 1959 about June when I inherited a calendar from a guy who would rather look at a pretty girl's picture than a lot of white space on a calendar.

I don't have anything against pretty girls—on calendars or otherwise—but business must come before pleasure. (And besides, it's hard enough to get a day's work done.)

The calendar which is now overdue for the trash has been a special buddy. It's one of those calendars which uses only a week per page, with plenty of space and lines for notes.

But that's not its only distinguishing feature. Each week, in addition to seven new days, you get a bright saying.

For instance, for the week of May 24-30, the calendar says, "A person who thinks by the inch and talks by the yard, should be removed by the foot."

Another, this time for March 1-7, "A man who won't lie to a woman has very little consideration for her feelings."

And another, for November 22-28, "Egotism is something that enables the man in a rut to think he's in the groove."

Still another, for September 13-19, "Living in the past has one thing in its favor; it's cheaper."

With thoughts like these staring at you every week, you'd be reluctant to throw it away too, whether or not you agree with the witticism.

But like last New Year's resolutions, a calendar must be discarded and at least a portion of the slate wiped clean.

Fellow down the street says that sardines are one of the few families that consider pop a success when he gets canned.

West Texas to Accept 50 Teachers During Summer Science Institute

Fifty teachers of biology, chemistry, physics, and mathematics will be accepted for the National Science Foundation Summer Institute, to be held May 31 to August 19 at West Texas State College, according to Dr. H. L. Cook, professor of mathematics and director of the institute. Request for applications for the institute should be made immediately, Dr. Cook said, for completed applications should be returned to him at WT by February 15. The institute for high school teachers is in its second year at WT, with an allowance for more teachers this year to attend than last year, Dr. Cook said.

Winners of institute appointments are granted $900 for the 12-week period, with an allowance of $15 a week for each dependent up to a maximum of four, along with a travel allowance.

Featured for the institute, along with regular classes and laboratory sessions in biology-chemistry and physics-mathematics, will be lectures by nationally known scientists. One such lecture will be made by Dr. Calvin VanderWerf on the formulation and use of tranquilizers.

A field trip to White Sands Proving Grounds and Holloman Air Force Base is planned, where high speed computing machines, testing, and firing of missiles, and the rocket sled track will be some of the things studied and observed.

Institute staff at WT will consist of Dr. Claude E. Boatman, professor of chemistry; Dr. Robert C. Busted, professor of biology; Dr. John S. Urban, professor of physics; and Dr. Cook.

Toastmistress Club Will Meet Friday

The Toastmistress Club will meet at the home of Mrs. Clyde Warwick Friday night. A "Review of 1959" will be given by Mrs. Rae Walters, Mrs. Alma Perkins and Mrs. Warwick.

Math Contest Deadline Near

Entries by area high schools in the National High School Mathematics contest have been urged by Dr. H. L. Cook, professor of mathematics at West Texas State College. The contest is scheduled March 10, but deadline for school registration is February 1.

The contest is sponsored by the Texas Section of the Mathematical Association of America, and Dr. Cook is regional chairman for the association.

No limit on the number of contestants from each school is made, Dr. Cook said. The contest will be given in the various schools on March 10. Deadline for registration is February 1, and contest entries should be sent to Dr. H. J. Ettlinger, Department of Mathematics, University of Texas, in Austin.

Purpose of the contest is to improve the teaching of mathematics in secondary schools and to increase the number of trained scientists and engineers throughout the nation, Dr. Cook said.

State Group Picks Taylor as Officer

John P. Taylor of Canyon, president of Taylor Evans Farm Stores, last week was elected vice president of the Texas Anhydrous Ammonia Dealers at the state and national conventions in Dallas.

This is Taylor's first office in the state-wide association, which includes approximately 380 members.

The Canyon resident will be serving the organization with another member from the Panhandle area. Elected president of the group was Jimmy Allred of Hereford.

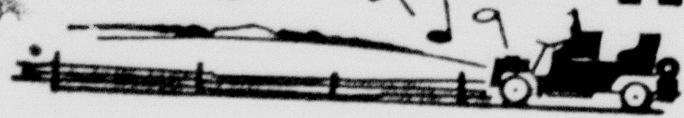

Loudders Return From Convention

Mr. and Mrs. Rayford Loudder, Jehovah's Witnesses from the Amarillo congregation's service area which includes Canyon, have returned from a weekend circuit convention in Amarillo.

The delegates heard R. L. Anderson, special envoy of the Watchtower Society, introduce the theme, "Do the Divine Will." Anderson said that, "although the human race by nature wants to be free from all restrictions, the freedom that brings peace and happiness is only that which is exercised under the various restraints imposed by the Divine Will."

STATE CAPITAL Highlights AND Sidelights by Vern Sanford TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN—Nothing that has come out of state government in recent months has caused as bit a ruckus as the merit plan auto insurance rates.

It is possible to take either side of the question and start a lively argument on almost any street corner.

Critics have mounted a two-pronged attack: (1) to get the Board of Insurance, which authorized the plan, to change it and (2) to get the courts to declare it unconstitutional.

Board hearing to review the plan was called at the request of Sen. Grady Hazlewood of Amarillo, one of the most vocal objectors to the plan. Just before the hearing, a group of attorneys from the Harris County chapter of the Texas Association of Plaintiffs' Attorneys filed suit in an Austin district court seeking a permanent injunction against use of the plan.

Chairman Penn J. Jackson declared the board would listen to all protests with an open mind. Most insurance rates, he said, are subject to frequent changes. However, Jackson emphasized that the board is directed by law to consider safety incentives and driving records, past and prospective, in its rate making.

Under the merit plan, drivers with no accidents or moving traffic convictions on their records for the past three years would get lower rates. Compensating for this would be a sliding scale of higher rates to be paid by others according to the number and seriousness of the marks against them.

Loudest gripes are about the retroactive feature of the plan and the fact that any moving traffic violation, no matter how minor, counts against the motorist. Because it does go back three years in effect, the plan is being labeled an "ex post facto law" (law against something that happened in the past) which is unconstitutional.

Some motorists complain that in the past they have paid fines on tickets when they were not actually at fault — just to avoid the trouble of going to court.

Sen. Hazlewood derided the idea of putting all violators in the same class — "those that go 23 miles an hour in a 20-mile zone and those that go 100 miles an hour." He charged, too, that much ticket giving is merely a money-raising proposition. Residents of cities where traffic is strictly policed and all accidents and violations faithfully reported to the Department of Public Safety will get it in the neck, said the senator. Small towns are generally less diligent in policing or reporting violators to DPS.

Hazlewood said he was and still is in favor of a "realistic" merit rating plan.

Defenders of the present plan say that if law enforcement is at fault, this, not the insurance plan, should be worked on.

With all the fussing and fuming, say proponents, it must be admitted that motorists are now giving more thought to careful driving than ever before. A traffic ticket costing $60 is a sobering thought.

Teacher Session Urged
Texas teachers still hope to get a salary raise in a special session of the legislature this year.

Leaders of public school teachers' organizations say they believe Gov. Price Daniel will call a session after February 1.

Marching Mothers to Collect Facts, Funds

"If you can answer no to the questions inside, be thankful! If you must answer yes, take hope!"

American mothers will carry this message to over 30 million homes this month. The mothers, volunteers in the annual Mothers' March for the New March of Dimes, will be seeking information and support for The National Foundation's fight against birth defects, arthritis and polio. These cripples, initial targets in The National Foundation's campaign to prevent crippling disease, affect the lives of one of every four American families.

Two Million in March

An estimated two million women will join the nationwide mothers' appeal for facts and funds. In most communities the mothers will march Thursday evening, Jan. 28, bringing to a climax the New March of Dimes January campaign.

The mothers will present each household with a copy of "Door Count," a concise fact-finding folder in which a family may indicate if any of its members has a birth defect, arthritis or polio and how many have had three or more Salk vaccine shots. Each family record will be confidential.

Salk Shot Reminder

The Mothers' March door count will focus family and community attention on the majority of Americans still without Salk shot protection against paralytic polio. It will remind the unvaccinated to start shots in time for summer polio protection and it will help communities plan local programs to further encourage the widespread use of Salk vaccine.

Although the house-to-house poll is in no way planned as a statistically valid survey, the sum of information taken in the door count will provide a working estimate of the number of persons suffering from arthritis; the number born with birth defects and the number who have been victims of paralytic polio. This tabulation will help guide National Foundation county chapters in formulating local programs to aid the disabled.

Mothers making the house-to-house door count will also seek contributions to the New March of Dimes for its attack on birth defects, arthritis and polio. The New March of Dimes is combating these disabling disorders with the same effective weapons used to conquer paralytic polio: medical scientific research to find causes, cures, preventives; patient aid for medical care; and training for medical workers needed to treat the sick and disabled.

Two million mothers like this one will conduct a house-to-house door count this month seeking information and support for the New March of Dimes campaign against birth defects, arthritis and polio.

RAMBLING AROUND

By DOYLE G. THOMAS
Office Manager, ASC

Wheat measuring has been at a standstill for the past month because of the weather. However, we have completed measurements on 315 of the 910 wheat farms in the county. Our crews are standing by and will return to work as soon as the fields dry up enough for them to get in to them. We encourage and even request that farmers drop by the office and go over the measurements with us if there is any indication that an error might have been made.

This is the time of the year when quite a bit of land changes hands. In some cases parts of farms are sold and it is necessary that the farm be divided in this office and each part apportioned its part of the wheat and cotton allotments.

We have had a few cases lately where the purchaser has thought that he would get more allotment acreage than he actually did after we had divided the farm. Each part of a divided farm gets the same percentage of the allotment as it did cropland. In other words, if a part of a farm gets 25 percent of the cropland, then it would also receive 25 percent of the allotments.

We suggest that prospective purchasers contact the ASC office and verify the allotment acreages before closing the deal. By doing this, disappointments can be averted.

Side Views—John Albers, Morris Abbott, John Jennings, H. R. Fulton, and Noah Amason getting ready to seed grass on Conservation Reserve Acreage — Johnny Robinson checking on his wheat measurements — Joe Cox telling us that he was afraid wheat had been damaged by the November freeze — Howard Fuqua placing his grain sorghum in the loan — Harold Erwin paying off his farm stored wheat loan — Sam Whitfield releasing his cotton allotment so that other farmers could use it — John Brazzil worrying about the weather for the Livestock Show this weekend — All farmers in good humor because of the excellent moisture conditions. Very few are hollering calf-ropes, but most would prefer that it stay pretty for a while so they could get some outdoor work done.

Seals to Graduate Friday
At Navy Training School

Robert L. Seals, U. S. Navy apprentice petty officer second class and son of Mrs. Mildred Seals of 2701 Seventh Avenue, is scheduled to graduate Friday from Recruit Training at the Naval Training Center in San Diego, Calif.

Apprentice petty officers are chosen from the ranks of the seaman recruits to assist company commanders. The selection is based on individual aptitude and leadership qualities.
